

The Committee for Special Education

OF LOWER MERION SCHOOL DISTRICT

a parent-led volunteer organization serving families of students with an IEP, GIEP, and/or 504 Service Agreement invites you to join us for a conversation on

Social and Emotional Issues of Gifted Children

With special guests:

Dr. Amy Alfred is a licensed psychologist who has been in private practice for 20 years, specializing in relational concerns, parenting, depression, anxiety, stress, self-esteem, career issues, grief and loss, and personality disorders. She is currently a consultant for Jewish Learning Venture, focusing on congregational life from both the professional and lay person perspectives. She enjoys working with individuals and groups to examine relationships and strategies to get the job done in the most enriching and powerful way possible. She works hard on a daily basis to set appropriate boundaries in order to live joyfully and productively. Dr. Alfred is a Lower Merion School District parent.

Dr. Timothy Edge is a licensed and certified school psychologist, has received clinical training in assessment and in individual, family, and group psychotherapies at the Child Study Institute (Ph.D. Bryn Mawr College, 2005), Marple Newtown School District, St. Gabriel's System, the Princeton University Counseling Center, and the University of Pennsylvania Counseling Center. He has served as a school psychology consultant in a suburban independent school. He is currently employed as a Lower Merion School District school psychologist. His interests are in learning and emotional disorders, student development, attachment, and family systems.
