

Interviews of Two Former Mustangs

By Felix Kohler and Elijah Nichols

Entering the last three months of the school year, we decided to look into the past, and get opinions of former students' on their Merion experiences. Specifically, their favorite and least favorite parts. We decided to interview two people: One high schooler, Boris Kohler, and one middle schooler, Andrea Melendez.

Boris Kohler

What was your favorite part about your time in Merion?

Probably recess because it's something you don't really have in middle and high school. So I miss it.

What does it feel like not having recess anymore?

It's kind of like annoying because now the only thing I look forward to is lunch, and the food is bad, so isn't really anything to look forward to.

Do you get used to it quickly or does it take a while?

Well I got used to it after the first two months.

What was your least favorite part about your time at Merion?

The food. The only reason I looked forward to lunch was so I could socialize with my friends.

Does the food get better in middle school and high school?

Nope.

Does it get worse?

A: Nope. The same food.

What was your favorite field trip in Merion?

A: The trip to BC was pretty fun.

Andrea Melendez

What was your favorite part in your time at Merion?

Um. Diamond Ridge.

Why is it your favorite?

Because there are many activities you can do.

What was your least favorite part at Merion?

I'd say it was language arts.

Why was it your least favorite part?

In my opinion, I didn't like it because you had to read and write, and I prefer math and Spanish.

What do you think about the cafeteria food?

Bad.

What was your favorite special activity?

A special activity that was my favorite was the Spanish Festival because I really know a lot about Spanish and all of the activities in the Spanish Festivals are amazing to play.

If you're in middle school or high school, you might have different perspectives on the school, because you were at it at different times, clearly, according from the interviews. Those are some highlights from the past.
