

Movie Review: Thor Ragnarok

By Leo Walls

This action-seeking movie with the thrills that everyone loves. The name of that movie is Thor Ragnarok.

The movie includes Thor, Hela (the goddess of death), Hulk (also known as Banner), Loki, and Owen (Thor and Loki's father).

And I think that the stunning movie is “Amazing every millisecond” and Time Magazine thinks it’s “awesome every minute.”

The plot of the movie is that Thor’s hammer got destroyed and he tried to get it back. And along the way he dropped into a junkyard and there he finds some help.

If you really love action (which almost everyone loves) and especially superheroes and surprises and some chuckles, then you will enjoy this movie.

The movie is about 2 and 1/2 hours--just like STAR WARS movies. It’s rated PG-13 but the movie is not too violent. There's just some battle scene in the movie.

Also my favorite phrase is “Asgard isn't a place, it's a people.” Also Ragnarok isn't a person, it's the end of Asgard.

One of my favorite parts is when thor and hulk fight, but one thing I didn't like about is that some parts of the movie were kind of drag. In one part, Hulk turns into Banner (his human form last name).
